A MESSAGE FROM
SECRETARY RICHARD L. DUGGER

Fiscal Year 1986-87 was a year of challenge and accomplishment for the Department of Corrections. After I assumed the responsibilities of leadership in January, 1987, I became increasingly aware that although the Department had come a long way toward excellence there remained a long way to go to achieve all of our goals.

Some of our long-standing problems continued, notably overcrowding. After just two months into the fiscal year, the inmate population had exceeded the budgeted year-end population dramatically. To address the resulting bed space problem, the Department was required to bring on-line 1,868 beds beyond the appropriated level. This was followed by a projected additional shortage of almost 1,000 beds after the Criminal Justice Estimating Conference revised its projections. In addition to trying to meet these demands, the Department added 737 more beds in tents and 48 contract jail beds in order to meet the January 31, 1987, deficit.

In February, 1987, a special session of the Legislature was held to again address overcrowding, resulting in a supplemental appropriation of $32 million to cover budget deficits resulting from the increased population and the cost of constructing a new correctional facility in Hamilton County.

In addition, authority was vested in the Department Secretary to permit the awarding of administrative gain time, a procedure which permits regulation of the inmate population by awarding qualified inmates additional gain-time, thus permitting these inmates to be released in advance of their end of sentences.

Subsequently, during its regular session, the 1987 Legislature appropriated funds for additional beds, authorizing construction of two correctional institutions, which will be located in Calhoun and Holmes Counties and scheduled for full occupancy in early 1988.

Health services were greatly improved during the fiscal year, but there remains a degree of frustration brought about by continuing medical care delivery problems. The need for operational systems changes were recognized and I have directed the implementation of a management organizational and operational structure which will be put in place in 1988 to assure significant enhancement of health care delivery services. There were 340 new health service positions established, primarily within major institutions. Clinical requirements were expanded at major institutions and a modern Outpatient Department was opened at the Reception and Medical Center Hospital. Major purchases of health service equipment were made and an automated system for the professional management of highly significant health data on each inmate patient is under development for implementation on FY 1987-88. Additionally, the department has met the complexities of dealing with AIDS-infected inmates by operating a "state of the art" facility to treat them. With these improvements, coupled with a newly implemented quality assurance program and advice from the newly formed Corrections Medical Authority, our goal is to raise inmate health care to an unprecedented level in the Department. Our efforts toward achieving the goal will also be enhanced by increased professional supervision and the new management and professional hospital administrator approach.

Inmate education and vocational training are aspects of Florida's correctional system which also experienced change during the fiscal year. The Correctional Education School Authority (CESA), established by statute, has undertaken improvement in all phases of inmate academic education and vocational training. At present, CESA's scope of authority and functional relationships, both within and outside the Department, are being brought into focus. Advances in areas of inmate literacy education and vocational training are the goals of this new initiative.

The Department has moved ahead with determination, implementing new initiatives and release assistance programs and expanding existing alternatives to incarceration. The Legislature appropriated funds for the implementation of a "Boot Camp" program for selected youthful offenders. Early reviews of this program look very promising. Community Control was enhanced during the fiscal year by the application of additional electronic surveillance devices. A pilot project was implemented in Tampa in which offenders are required to wear electronic anklets that restrict them to a distance of 150 feet from their home except when working or involved in other approved activities. The success of alternative programs rests upon the caseload each Probation or Community Control Officer must handle. The large caseloads which now exist work to the detriment of these programs. More staffing is needed to prevent further adverse effects.

The Basic Release Assistance Program (BRAP) continues to facilitate the reentry of offenders into the community. The Program which provides relocation assistance, financial aid and employment assistance to inmates who voluntarily participate, has provided post-release employment and housing assistance for 14,189 offenders since it began in October, 1983.

Another important program assisting in population management, the Supervised Community Release Program (SCRP), continues to provide supervision over selected inmates released within 90 days of their expiration of sentence. Since SCRP was signed into law on June 3, 1986, 7,049 inmates have been released under its provisions, thereby easing the demand for institutional bed space.

The Department has moved aggressively to improve efficiency of administration. During FY 1986-87 more than 110 video terminals and 90 printers were approved for installation in institutions and parole and probation offices. Automated office systems tested in the Daytona Beach Probation and Parole Circuit Office have proven so valuable the decision was made to proceed with other circuits. An automated intake system is scheduled for implementation in FY 1987-88 at the Reception and Medical Center. Staff training was enhanced by the introduction of a computerized interactive video training system. This innovative system will reduce time officers are away from their duties for training, yet will provide an effective means for them to obtain information important to success on the job.

The measures and actions I've mentioned are but a few of the positive activities of the Department. There are many more initiatives in progress. None of them, however, would have the slightest chance for success without the commitment to excellence of departmental employees. I recently was privileged to honor the achievements of four employees who have been selected to represent the many highly qualified and dedicated administrative employees in the field and Central Office as well as Probation and Community Control Officers and Correctional Officers. To them individually and to those they represent, I express my congratulations and appreciation for all they have done.

During the course of the year, the Department has been saddened by the passing of a number of its members, both active and retired. All are missed, including Herb Kelley, who, at the time of his demise was the Regional Director of Region III. Throughout his thirty years of service to the Department, Herb contributed immeasurably to the Department's progress.

The Department of Corrections will not rest on past accomplishments. We are moving forward and must continue to progress. I am confident of our capacity to do what has to be done as we work to protect society and provide those inmates under our custody or supervision every reasonable opportunity to learn fundamental life skills and re-enter society as law-abiding citizens.

ACTIVITIES SECTION

ALTERNATIVES TO INCARCERATION

Supervised Community Release Program (SCRP). The Supervised Community Release Program, implemented June 5, 1986, continues to be a significant tool in the Department's management of the inmate population and compliance with the Costello agreement. During fiscal year 86-87, 6,261 offenders have been released an average of 72 days early under the provisions of the program. The Supervised Community Release Program allows selected inmates at community correctional centers who are within 90 days of their expiration of sentence to be released under intensive community supervision by Probation and Parole Officers. Releasees are no longer under the custody of the correctional institutions of the Department, but remain subject to disciplinary sanctions and may continue to earn incentive gain time. Offenders remain under supervision in the community until the completion of sentence, unless they violate the conditions of release. Violations of the conditional release may result in return to prison until their sentence is complete.

Basic Release Assistance Program (BRAP): Nationally, there is little in the way of post release assistance for adult inmates released from incarceration without supervision. On October 1, 1983, the Department of Corrections implemented the Basic Release Assistance Program which had been introduced by Senator George Kirkpatrick and enacted into law during the 1983 Legislative Session. The program provides post release assistance for selected eligible inmates. In order to provide incentives for participation in this voluntary program, the Department allows eligible inmates to be released in their area of residence up to 30 days in advance of their current release date and to have available to them, a $100 Basic Release Assistance Gratuity. The Release Assistance Gratuity is in addition to the $100 every inmate is provided upon release. Beginning January 1, 1988, an enhancement to the BRAP program called the Transitional Assistance Program Act will provide enhanced release assistance along with increasing the release assistance gratuity to $200.00.

Presently, the Department has provider contracts with the Salvation Army and Tampa Crossroads; Alternative Programs Inc., Jacksonville, and a cooperative agreement with Health and Rehabilitative Services to provide post release assistance to inmates. These providers give such assistance as residential care, employment referrals and other counseling services, as needed. Beginning January 1, 1988, this resource network will expand to include the Department of Labor and Employment Security as the necessary provider for employment services. Since its inception, over 14,189 inmates have been released through the Basic Release Assistance Program. Preliminary statistics indicate only 11% of those inmates released through the BRAP since October 1, 1983, have been reincarcerated. A recent Departmental report indicates that from October 1, 1983, through June 30, 1985, 36% of the offenders released via the Basic Release Assistance Program were successful in obtaining employment.

Nine Regional Release Assistance Officers and a Basic Release Administrator at the Central Office operate the BRAP. The Regional Officers work directly with providers, and assist releasees with any problems they may encounter after release from incarceration. They are particularly sensitive to inmates with special needs, such as those who are handicapped or otherwise impaired. The Basic Release Administrator is responsible for policy development, overall supervision and coordination of the program on a statewide basis.

Probation and Community Control Initiatives. Community Control,"House Arrest", an innovative initiative to address prison overcrowding, continues to find favor with judges as a popular diversionary alternative to incarceration. The program provides punishment, in that confinement in the home, is required except for absences due to employment and personal necessities. Also, cost savings in prison operation and construction costs are realized. Caseloads of Community Control Officers' who supervise offenders are statutorily restricted to 20 controlees. The offenders are supervised in their payment of restitution to victims, fines, court costs and monthly supervision costs. In many instances, they are supervised in the performance of court ordered public service projects. Community Control II, a pilot project implemented in Probation and Parole Services Program Director Leonard Flynn demonstrates application of an electronic anklet.

Tampa, requires offenders to wear electronic anklets which restrict their activities to within 150 feet of their home unless they are working or involved in other authorized activities. A computer monitors their whereabouts 24 hours a day. Those selected for this program are first time offenders who need extraordinary supervision. It is anticipated that 266 offenders will be diverted from prison every six months under the provisions of this program.

"Passive" monitoring, introduced in Miami and Fort Lauderdale, uses electronic wristlets and computerized programming to make periodic telephone checks on offenders. This supplements officer surveillance and increases protection to the community. Conventional telephone pagers with a computer system programmed to "page" the controlee periodically at home are being installed in St. Petersburg and Sarasota.

Even though the Community Control measures reported above offer great promise in supervising offenders in the community, "regular" probation continues as the foundation of diversionary alternatives. Caseloads for Correctional Probation Offcers exceed 110 in most locations, and do not lend themselves to adequate supervision, control, or safety of the community. Revocations have increased and the percentage of collections in cost of supervision fees and victim restitution has decreased. Confidence of judges and the community has been reduced and the maximum diversionary potential of probation is not being realized due to the burden of increased caseloads.

Although caseloads for officers have been high, Probation and Parole Services collected over $14,700,000 last year in monthly supervision fees. These fees were placed in the State Treasury to offset costs of government. Additionally, more than $9,800,000 was paid to victims of crime for restitution, and over $5,000,000 in court costs, fines, and public defender fees was paid to the counties by over 80,000 felony offenders.

Administrative Gain-Time. A law passed during the special session of the Legislature in February, 1987, has provided the Department with a temporary method of stabilizing the growth of the inmate population. In order to award "Administrative Gain-Time", the Department must follow procedures which include certifying to the Governor that the inmate population has reached 98% of lawful capacity. Upon written acknowledgement of the certification by the Governor, the Secretary may grant up to 60 days of administrative gain-time to all inmates who earned "incentive gain-time" the previous month. Eligibility is prohibited for those inmates serving a 25 year mandatory sentence for a capital offense, mandatory drug trafficking sentence, or a minimum mandatory sentence for commission of a felony with the use of a firearm. Inmates serving a sentence for a sexual offense who have not successfully completed a program of treatment as a mentally disturbed sex offender; or those who are serving a sentence as an habitual offender are also not eligible. The Administrative Gain Time process requires the careful scrutiny of staff to determine arrest and sentence records of each inmate to be released. The "relief valve" of Administrative Gain Time has effectively stabilized growth of the inmate population; however, it has significantly increased turnover of the population and sharply increased Admission and Release and Classification workloads.

INSTITUTIONAL DEVELOPMENTS

Overcrowding. Projections regarding inmate population and requirements imposed by Costello litigation to reduce the Department's lawful bed capacity created a critical bed space situation during 1985. Efforts by the Department to alleviate this problem included maximizing the Basic Release Assistance Program which allowed approximately 500 beds to be available on a continuing basis.

Revision of the Criminal Justice Estimating Conference population projections indicated a need that was addressed by the 1986 Legislature to increase the allowable bed capacity from 98% to 99% of system maximum capacity. Authorization of the Supervised Community Release Program also was obtained. This program released certain inmates up to ninty days early, placing them under the supervision of a Correctional Probation Officer. Additional beds were appropriated and became available during this period, 610 of which came "on-line" in 1986-87.

In spite of the above efforts, a tremendous population increase continued to occur in the prison system. It became necessary to contract additional jail beds, erect tent beds, and convert a decal manufacturing plant at Apalachee Correctional Institution and a canning plant at Glades Correctional Institution into inmate housing. In order to comply with existing legislative mandates as well as the Costello case, the addition of 1,868 beds was implemented, together with the temporary diversion of 335 positions from appropriated medical care to staffing for this increase. Another revision of projections by the Criminal Justice Estimating Conference in October left the Department again short of bed space by January 31, 1987. A special session of the Legislature in February 1987 addressed the latter crisis by appropriating $32 million to cover the deficits already incurred by the Department and to fund a new 729 bed institution in Hamilton County. Funds were also allocated implement electronic surveillance programs devised to divert offenders from incarceration. The early release of inmates through Administrative Gain Time also was statutorily authorized to reduce the prison population.

The construction of facilities to provide additional bed capacity to the system continued as a high priority item. Inmate labor has been used to assist in constructing new dormitories at existing institutions, adding 550 beds to capacity. Other efforts in 1986-87, included conversion of existing facilities (1,837 beds). The 1987 Legislature provided funds for six work and forestry camps (1,200 beds at 200 per camp); completion of Orange Correctional Institution (896 beds); and the opening of a vocational center in Quincy (133 beds); two new "quick construction" institutions, one each in Calhoun and Holmes Counties (768 beds each) and a single cell institution in Charlotte County (896 beds).

Occupancy/Inventory Procedure: Before bed capacity is increased, either by renovation of an existing structure, by new construction, or by contracting the Department follows a careful procedure to verify occupancy adequacy and suitability. Verification of "substantial completion" of construction or renovation is certified by the architect or engineer in charge of the project. Such certification indicates that the bed space to be occupied has been adequately completed for the intended purpose, i.e. bed capacity meets the floor space standards as set forth in the Costello Overcrowding Settlement Agreement.

Perimeter and other physical security measures are installed in accordance with the historical experience of the Department and adequate staffing for the level of occupancy is insured. Food services and medical resources to meet the needs of the inmate population must also be secured.

A review team comprised of Department staff evaluates the preparations, using a specific checklist for each project. Additional inspections are conducted of contract jail beds, and contract work release beds. A review of reports to detect infractions within the institutions is initiated.

All findings and recommendations of the review team for new construction and renovation, contract jail beds, and contract work release beds are reported to the Department's Assistant Secretary for Operations. Only then will a decision be made to add or remove beds from the inventory.

DEPARTMENTAL EFFICIENCY

The Department of Corrections is now interfaced computer-to-computer with the Florida Department of Law Enforcement and the State Comptrollers Office.

Installation of electronic data systems: During fiscal year 1986-87, the Bureau of Management Information Systems (MIS) approved the installation of more than 110 video terminals and 90 printers in various institutions and parole and probation offices for access to the Offender Base Information System (OBIS). The bureau also developed, in conjunction with the Justice Data Center, computer-to-computer tie-ins with the Florida Department of Law Enforcement and the State Comptroller's Office. Additionally, more than 20 terminals were installed statewide to supplement existing tie-ins with the Department of Administration's personnel management system.

A pilot project among the systems installed, located at the Daytona Circuit, provides word processing, electronic mail, and other valuable office tools to more than 25 clerical personnel within the circuit and sub-offices. This system also allows access to the OBIS system at every work station, thereby giving terminal access to all sub-offices in the circuit. Based on the favorable results obtained from this pilot project, the decision to proceed with equipping other circuits was made.

Automated Reception Function: An automated intake system, scheduled for installation during the fiscal year 1987-88 at the Reception and Medical Center will reduce the amount of work involved in the production of documents related to the intake function, and should eliminate acquisition and storage of printed forms.

Inmate Banking: Regionalization of the Inmate Trust Fund under this program relieves center staff of fiscal management responsibilities, reduces their workload related to Inmate Bank, and affords maximum investment opportunities to the region. This equipment allows center staff access to the Offender Base Information System as well.

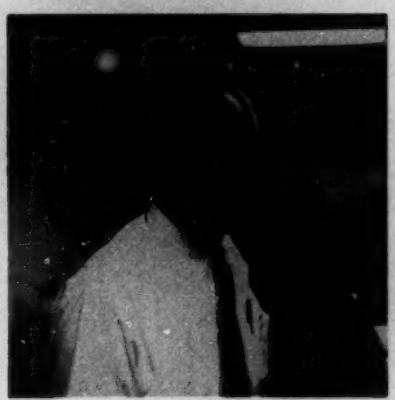
The dormitory at Florida Corrections Academy under construction.

The Florida Corrections Academy: The Department has completed its first year of operation for the Florida Corrections Academy, providing 320 hours of basic training to correctional officers along with the instructional courses. During the year, 58,560 hours of training were provided to 657 corrections personnel. The construction of a student dormitory also highlighted this year's activity at the Academy. The dormitory is scheduled to open in November 1987. The Legislature's requirement that Correctional Probation Officers be certified for performance of duty by the Criminal Justice Standards and Training Commission is expected to increase demands for Academy training.

Interactive Training: A computerized video training system for correctional and probation officers has been introduced. Two programs dealing with crisis and suicide intervention strategies have been completed and additional programs are slated for production. Advanced and highly specialized training for correctional and probation officers have been provided through such programs as Locksmithing and A.I.D.S. Awareness Training. The Bureau of Staff Development has enhanced its video programing capability and can now produce broadcast quality training programs and documentaries, providing enhanced training and information to all departmental employees throughout the state.

Personnel Actions: The Affirmative Action goals of the Department were met by increasing minority employment from 23 to 24% and female employment from 31 to 32%. While the turnover rate was generally reduced in the Correctional Officer I and Correctional Probation Officer I categories, the rate in South Florida counties was more pronounced than in other areas. There is an apparent need for a higher competitive area differential to attract and retain staff in these locations.

Several classification studies were completed and reviewed pertaining to the positions of Correctional Probation Administrator, Maintenance Specialist, and Registered Nurse resulting in the upgrading of these positions. In accordance with the Collective Bargaining Agreement, a uniform department-wide promotional policy for correctional officers was implemented.



Benjamin H. Grooms, Ph.D., Director of Correctional Education.

DEVELOPMENTS IN CORRECTIONAL EDUCATION

Correctional Education School Authority: The Correctional Education School Authority was created by Florida Statute 224.68 and Board appointments subsequently were made by then Governor Bob Graham in October 1986. The Board has met monthly since that date to carry out its overall supervisory responsibilities for correctional education programs. Dr. Benjamin H. Groomes was appointed by the Board as the Director of Correctional Education in April 1987.

Analysis of education services: A complete operational analysis of the education services offered to inmates was conducted and appropriate recommendations for improvement have been made. There are currently over 300 full time professional educators and approximately 150 additional contract staff employed to teach in various institutions. Priority was given to improving academic performance of youthful offenders of whom approximately 2600 are enrolled in adult basic education and GED classes. One thousand older inmates were also enrolled in academic education. During the year, Sumter Correctional Institution received national recognition for its Chapter I computer assisted instructional program.

Vocational training: A three year improvement cycle was completed to improve the quality of vocational programs. Efforts were focussed on upgrading under-equipped but inherently strong programs which promise reasonably high levels of employment opportunity. Other programs scheduled for upgrading are those undergoing significant technological changes. Programs specifically targeted for improvement in 1987 include residential appliance, air conditioning, heating, and consumer electronic repair. Vocational education programs enroll approximately 3200 inmates per academic year.

HEALTH SERVICES DEVELOPMENTS

Improved Delivery of Health Services for Inmates. Proviso language in the 1986 Appropriations Act required that various issues regarding improvement of inmate health care services be addressed in a detailed plan to be provided to the Governor by September 1986.

In response to requests from the Department and recommendations from the court, 340 new positions were established by the 1986 Legislature. The Department's health services delivery system offers improved public safety and significant cost containment, while maintaining professional standards of health care.

Health Services Management. An allocation of $1,056,810 was made to meet the equipment needs for the new positions and expanded clinic requirements at the major institutions. Management action was taken to allocate $1,428,400 for other personal services. In order to meet the need for community hospitalization, $14,086,022 was allocated. A Medical Records Manager was appointed during this time to assist in the standardization of uniform health records. Other needed professionals filled positions dealing with personnel, budget facilities, and management information services. An automated department-wide health services computer system being implemented will provide vital health information to all professional health management levels. Construction of a modern Outpatient Department at RMC Hospital was completed during the fiscal year, and included specialty clinics, a clinical laboratory, radiology department, and a physical therapy facility. The AIDS Housing Dormitory opened on June 1, 1986 at Reception and Medical Center. While average occupancy was 15, the special housing unit capacity is 40 inmates, restricted to those identified as having AIDS whose infection is in remission. Enhancement of The Quality Assurance Program and establishment of regional medical directors improved the cost and delivery of health care by providing direct clinical services at the various correctional institutions.

VOLUNTEER PROGRAMS

Volunteers Enhance Religious Services. The increase in inmate population, coupled with limited available dollars, make volunteers progressively more helpful in assisting Chaplains in providing spiritual care and support needed for the total institutional community. Volunteers assist the Chaplain in providing religion studies, prayer seminars, 'singspirations", religious movies, therapy groups, discussion groups, weekend crusades and numerous other experiences. They also are instrumental in providing chapel facilities.

During the past year beautiful chapel facilities were completed and dedicated at Apalachee Correctional Institution (West), Cross City Correctional Institution, Lake Correctional Institution and Polk Correctional Institution through the combined efforts of the Department of Corrections and dedicated volunteers.

Alcoholics Anonymous. It is the policy of the Department of Corrections to make maximum utilization of citizen volunteers from communities adjacent to DC facilities. Volunteers provide a service to the inmates of the Department on an ongoing basis without expectation of remuneration. Their service is provided under supervision and is subject to performance requirements. Alcoholics Anonymous Volunteer Groups are among those who provide service by increasing their participation in correctional programming to assist inmates; by actively encouraging inmate interest and participation in the AA program against alcohol abuse; by contributing towards the publics accurate knowledge of AA; and by providing needed interchange between community AA groups and their sponsors.

He has demonstrated an outstanding interest in students and curriculum. He is a strong advocate of the new curriculum based on the Florida Minimum Student Performance Standards. Mr. Gustin devotes his spare time to religious activities and yard work, where he especially enjoys growing flowers of all types.

Mr. David P. Gustin.

FLORIDA MASTER TEACHERS

The Florida Master Teachers Program was created by the Legislature as a means of recognizing superior ability and performance among instructional personnel in a Florida school district or a state supported school. For qualification as an Associate Master Teacher, the teacher must have at least four years teaching experience, possess a professional service contract, attain a superior classroom performance evaluation, and attain a superior score on a subject area examination if one has been developed.

Three Department of Corrections teachers have the distinction of being endorsed by the Department of Education as Associate Master Teachers.

John Rosinski has been employed as a Classroom Teacher at Union Correctional Institution since October 1969, and has taught GED preparatory classes in both English and Social Studies as well as Adult Basic Education. He earned his BA degree in English and a Master's degree in Adult Education from the University of Florida. In 1976 Mr. Rosinski was selected as Teacher of the Year for Union Correctional Institution and the Department of Corrections in 1976. He received his endorsement as an Associate Master Teacher in the fall of 1986. John Rosinski is a dedicated, caring and imaginative teacher respected by his students and colleagues.

Mr. John Rosinski.

Mr. Ernest Blair.

Ernest Blair was employed at Union Correctional Institution in 1970 as a Tower Officer following his retirement from the Navy after 23 years of service. In December, 1972, he became a Vocational Instructor for shoe repair, a position he has held since, except for two years as production assistant in the shoe factory at Lawtey C.I. Mr. Blair was the first certified shoe repair instructor in the State of Florida. He now holds an Advanced Occupational Certificate and is working to complete a Bachelor's degree. He is also certified and listed on the National Registry of Orthopedic Shoe Servicemen. Mr. Blair was selected as UCI's Teacher of the Year in 1981 and, more recently, as UCI's Employee of the Year for 1986. He is also a certified Hunter Education Instructor. Mr. Blair received his endorsement as Master Teacher in the spring of 1987. He is a dedicated teacher, sportsman and family man.

Joseph N. Warren has taught Consumer Electronics Repair at Florida State Prison since February, 1983. Prior to serving as Vocational Teacher, he began working with the Department of Corrections in 1979 in the maintenance department at FSP. Mr. Warren holds a BA degree from the University of North Florida. He has sixteen years of teaching experience, twelve of which were at Bradford-Union Vocational Technical Center. Mr. Warren also has thirty-six years with the Florida National Guard where he is a W3 Warrant Officer, in charge of the 631st Maintenance Company in Starke. He was endorsed as a Master Teacher in 1987.

Mr. Joseph N. Warren

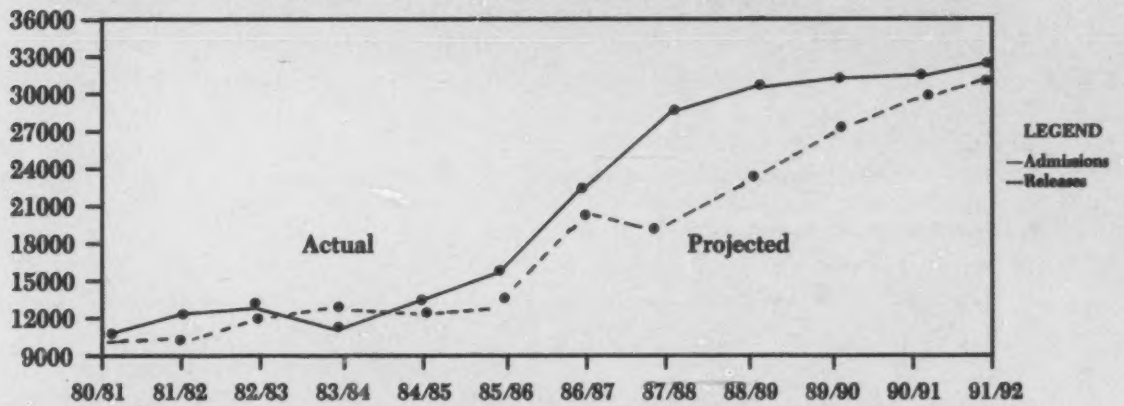
CRIMINAL JUSTICE TRENDS

The size of the inmate population and the probation and parole caseload of the Department of Corrections is the result of varying rates of admissions and releases. Several factors affect the rates of admission including population growth in Florida, crime rates, rates of arrest and prosecution, use of alternative programs, sentencing policies of the judiciary and statutes relating to sentencing. Factors affecting releases include the extent of mandatory sentencing, the existence of parole and other post release supervision programs, sentence length, and policies concerning the award of gain time.

TRENDS IN PRISON ADMISSIONS AND RELEASES

The number of new inmates admitted to prison (new court commitments and violators with new sentences) has increased from 9,887 in fiscal year 1980-81 to 22,512 in 1986-87, a 127.7% increase over a seven year period. The Criminal Justice Estimating Conference has projected that admissions will increase another 57.4% in the next five years to an annual level of 35,545 in fiscal year 1991-92. If special early release mechanisms are not used, the prison population is projected to increase to 59,927 inmates by the end of fiscal year 1991-92, an 83% increase from the present level of 32,764.

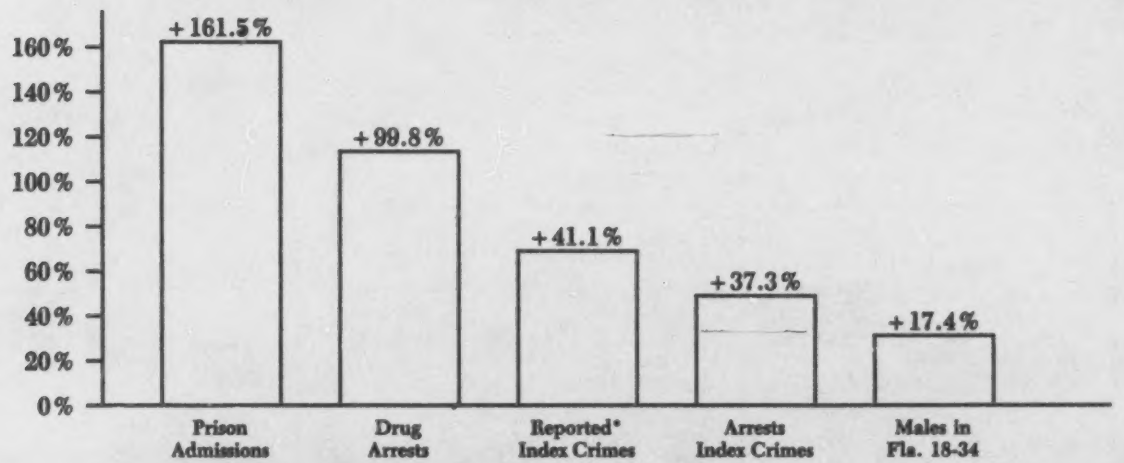
ACTUAL AND PROJECTED ADMISSIONS AND RELEASES: FY 1980-81 — 1991-92



RISE IN ADMISSIONS ASSOCIATED WITH DRUGS AND CRIME

Traditionally, changes in the "population-at-risk" (males 18-34 years of age) have been used to explain prison admission rates. The chart below suggests that increases in crime, especially drug arrests are more closely associated with the rise in new prison commitments.

PERCENT CHANGES IN ADMISSIONS, CRIME AND POPULATION:
1979 — 1987



* Index crimes include Murder, Rape, Robbery, Burglary, Aggravated Assault, Larceny, and Auto Theft.
Crime Data is from calendar years 1979-1986.
Admissions and population data is from fiscal years 1979-80 — 1986-87.

NEW COMMITMENTS AS A PERCENT OF GUILTY DISPOSITIONS UP SINCE 1984

With the exception of the period immediately following the implementation of sentencing guidelines and community control, the percent of guilty dispositions that are committed to prison as new commitments has remained relatively stable since 1977. New commitments as a percentage of guilty dispositions fluctuated around 18 percent from the first quarter of 1977 through the third quarter of 1983. The percentage then dropped to a low of 15.2 percent in the fourth quarter of 1983. The last quarter of fiscal year 1986-87 level of 23 percent is the highest over the past 10 years.

- PAROLE ELIGIBLE POPULATION DECLINING
  Inmates committed to prison under sentencing guidelines are not eligible for parole. As more and more admissions to prison fall under the sentencing guidelines criteria, the number of individuals in prison who are eligible for parole will decrease. Only 6.1% of the prison population incarcerated on June 30, 1987 was for parole review and this number is expected to decline to 807 by June 30, 1995.

- INDEX CRIMES IN FLORIDA INCREASED 11.5% DURING CALENDAR YEAR 1986
  The Uniform Crime Report provides a general indicator of criminal activity in the state. Crime report data historically has somewhat been related to prison admissions. This may be explained by the fact that the Uniform Crime Report counts crimes, not criminals. In addition, the index crimes reported include a significant number of misdemeanor offenses not resulting in prison admissions.

COMMUNITY SUPERVISION INTAKES AND LOSSES

The rate of growth of probation and parole cases is affected by changes in certain variables similar to those used to predict prison admissions. However, increases in the supervision caseload are the direct result of the rate of parole release from prison, as well as new probation commitments from the circuit courts.

Improved reporting, resulting from full implementation of the probation and parole information system, permits development of the trends below which reflect the degree or rate of change. These trends are generally considered to be valid indicators of direction of growth.

- SUPERVISION INTAKE FOR FISCAL YEAR 1986 WAS 31.7% MORE THAN THE PREVIOUS YEAR
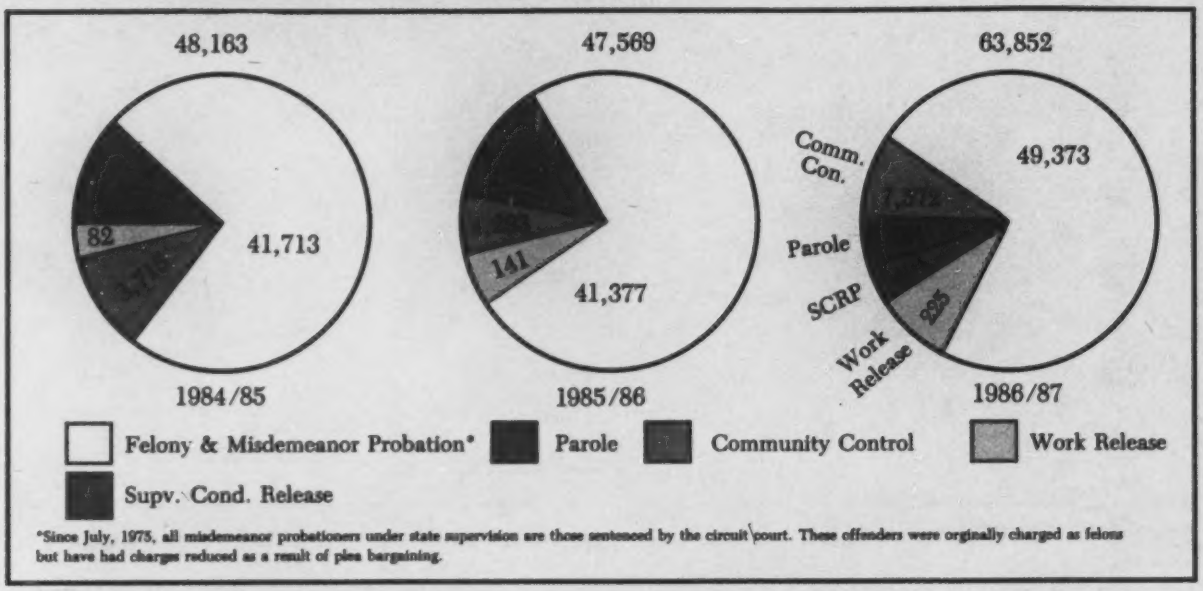
- Felony probation intake increased 16.4% over last year
- Community Control increased 76.3% over last year
- Parole intake decreased 27.1% over the previous year



NOTE: This does not include Pre-Trial Intervention

- SUPERVISION LOSSES FOR FISCAL YEAR 1986 INCREASED 30% OVER THE PREVIOUS YEAR

INTERSTATE COMPACT TRANSFERS

- INTERSTATE COMPACT TRANSFERS DURING THE 1986/87 FISCAL YEAR INCREASED 8% FROM THE PREVIOUS YEAR
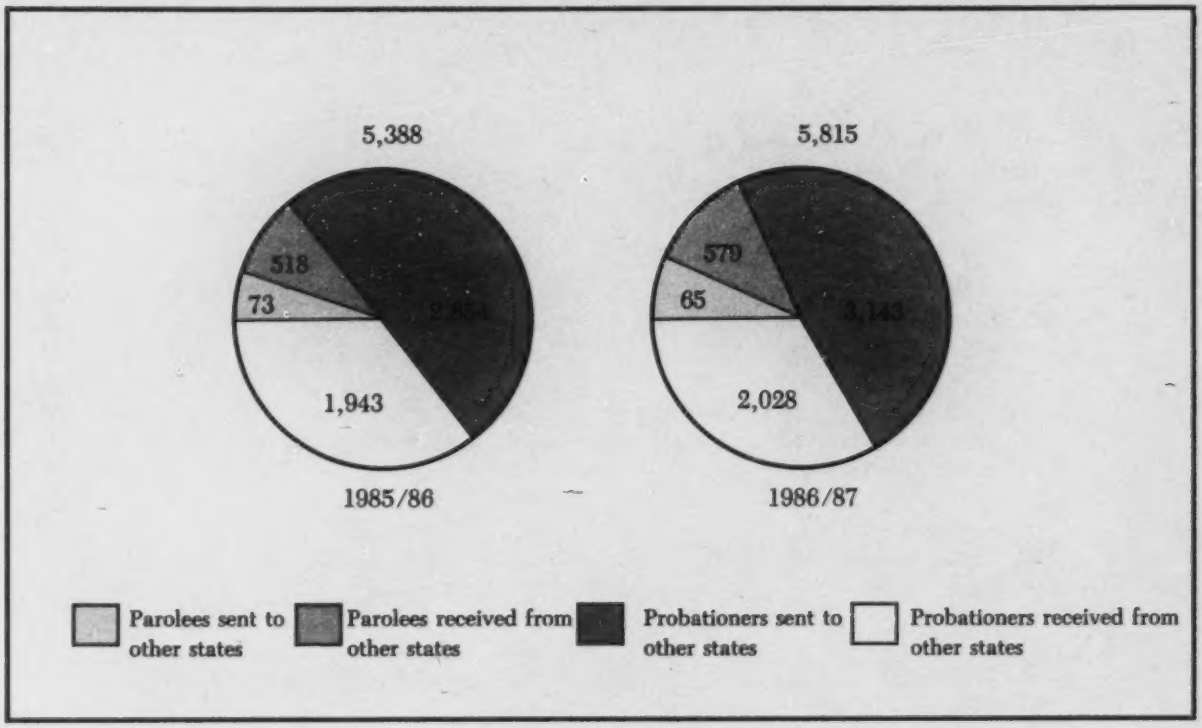
- FLORIDA SENT 65 PAROLEES TO OTHER STATES FOR SUPERVISION
- FLORIDA RECEIVED 579 PAROLEES FROM OTHER STATES TO SUPERVISE
- FLORIDA SENT 3,143 PROBATIONERS TO OTHER STATES FOR SUPERVISION
- FLORIDA RECEIVED 2,028 PROBATIONERS FROM OTHER STATES FOR SUPERVISION



CORRECTIONAL STATISTICS

The continued refinement of our computerized data system has permitted inclusion of information for incarcerated inmates and offenders under community supervision for two time periods.

- Inmates and probationers/parolees admitted to custody or supervision of the Department of Corrections during FY 1986-87

- Inmates and probationers/parolees in custody or supervision of the Department as of June 30, 1987

Data in this section of the Annual Report are organized into two major subsections—incarcerated offenders, and offenders under community supervision. This data follows the summary statistics for population under criminal sentence.

For each category statistics are included on the population in custody or under supervision, along with dispositional data and offender demographics. The data are organized along the following lines:

- First, data descriptive of the prison and community supervision populations are presented. Data are included on the number of offenders, their origin by county, and where housed or supervised.

- Then, dispositional data as to criminal history, primary offense, length of commitment or supervision, and class of felony is included.

- Finally, offender specific data on age, education, intelligence, length of residence, employment, and use of alcohol or narcotics are provided.

It should be noted that some data are the result of self reporting and may be subject to error and may not be totally reliable. Also a redistribution of the missing data will subject the tables to some rounding problems.

Due to limitation of space in the Annual Report, a limited amount of data is included in the report. Data from reports which previously appeared in the Biennial Report series are available upon specific request from the Bureau of Planning, Research and Statistics, 1311 Winewood Boulevard, Tallahassee, Florida 32399-2500, Telephone: (904) 488-8430, SunCom: 278-1776.

NOTE:
The numbers representing offenders on conditional pardon have been aggregated with those on felony probation, because of the small numbers of offenders who receive conditional pardons.

Also included in the tables are those under Supervised Community Release. For the first time a section on drugs is included in the report. This was done because of the dramatic increase in drug offender committments to the Department. Drug committments were analyzed to determine if they were a factor in the increase. Additionally, it is believed to be important to demonstrate how serious this growth of drug committments is to all aspects of the System.

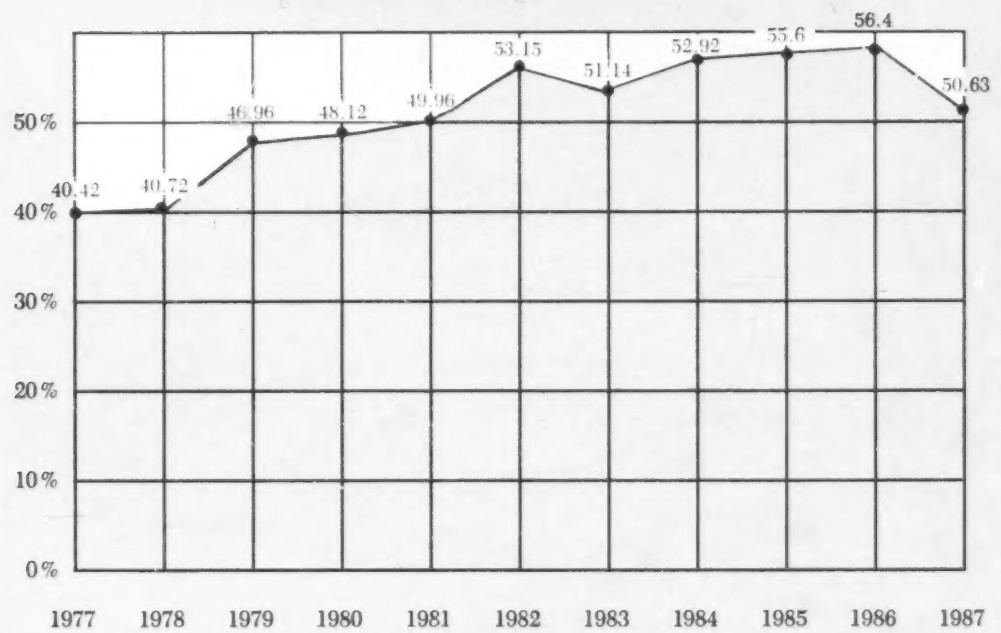
ADMITTED NARCOTICS USE REPORTED BY INMATES COMMITTED TO THE DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS



DRUG OFFENDERS

SOME TRENDS IN PRISON ADMISSIONS

During the 1985-86 Fiscal Year, drug offenders accounted for 16.2% of all prison admissions. For Fiscal Year 1986-87, that figure rose to 22.6%. The rate of growth in drug admissions was thus higher than the overall growth in admissions, 89% to 35%

Cocaine offenders made up the vast bulk of all drug offenders. Admissions for identifiable cocaine offenses rose from 772 in FY 1985-86 to 3863 in FY 1986-87, an increase of more than 400%. The trend in month to month cocaine admissions was generally upward throughout the 86-87 year.

Marijuana admissions numbered 433 for the fiscal year. This number, though small compared to cocaine admissions, represents a 189% increase in the number of marijuana admissions over Fiscal Year 1985-86. As with cocaine admissions, marijuana admissions generally increased from month to month throughout the 1986-87 Fiscal Year.

In contrast to cocaine and marijuana admissions, admissions for heroin and hallucinogen offenses were few in number and declining. From Fiscal Year 1985-86 to Fiscal Year 1986-87, heroin admissions declined by more than 53%; hallucinogen admissions, by more than 57%. In both cases, the downward trend generally persisted in the month to month admissions throughout FY 1986-87.

Clearly the drug problem as it has impacted prison population is associated with cocaine offenses.

PROBATION AND PAROLE STATISTICS

The following pages contain statistics concerning probationers and parolees under the supervision of the Department of Corrections. The probation and parole caseload continues to increase. The Department continues its emphasis upon diversionary programs and these programs, hopefully, will reduce the number of institutional beds necessary in the future. Consequently, an even greater probation and parole caseload is anticipated in the years to come.

In the following tables, misdemeanor probation reflects cases originally filed in circuit court as felonies that were reduced to misdemeanors and subsequently placed on probation.
